

One review at a time:
A conversation on community and change

Mark Newton and Melanie Schlosser

2018 ALI Scholarly Communication Librarianship Conference

First, some introductions

Journal of Librarianship and Scholarly Communication

A little more about

Journal of Librarianship and
Scholarly Communication

What kind of keynote is this, anyway?

Let's talk about IRs

Some things to read on IRs

- Tillman, "Where Are We Now? Survey on Rates of Faculty Self-Deposit in Institutional Repositories," 5(1), 2017.
- Marsolek et al, "The Types, Frequencies, and Findability of Disciplinary Grey Literature within Prominent Subject Databases and Academic Institutional Repositories," 6(1), 2018.
- Young, P., 2017. "Research Access and Discovery in University News Releases: A Case Study," 5(1), 2017

Let's talk about the growing role of commercial providers for ScholComm infrastructure

Let's talk about commercial publishers buying up all the
infrastructure

Some things to read on research infrastructure

- Lemus-Rojas & Odell, "Creating Structured Linked Data to Generate Scholarly Profiles: A Pilot Project using Wikidata and Scholia" (forthcoming)
- Coates et al, "How are we Measuring Up? Evaluating Research Data Services in Academic Libraries," 6(1), 2018.
- Lovett, J.A., Rathemacher, A.J., Boukari, D. and Lang, C., 2017. "Institutional Repositories and Academic Social Networks: Competition or Complement? A Study of Open Access Policy Compliance vs. ResearchGate Participation." 5(1), 2017.

Let's talk about community

Some things to read on the schol comm community

- Hayes & Kelly, "Who's Talking about Scholarly Communication? An Examination of Gender and Behavior on the SCHOLCOMM Listserv," 5(1), 2017.
- Heller & Gaede, "Measuring Altruistic Impact: A Model for Understanding the Social Justice of Open Access," 4(1), 2016.
- Finlay et al, "Scholarly Communication as a Core Competency: Prevalence, Activities, and Concepts of Scholarly Communication Librarianship as Shown Through Job Advertisements", 3(1), 2015.

And, finally, some advice

Advice: Don't feel like you need to be an expert in everything

Advice: Read the author guidelines

Advice: Get involved

Thank you
